

A lot of people having been asking me in email what is a good way to succeed with tests, making more money, competition in your jobs, etc. The Seal of Mercury from the 7th Book is an excellent companion to have in your pocket. Consecrate it on a Wednesday when the Sun is rising; anoint it with almond oil mixed with a bit of myrrh and cinammon, and pray over it to God and the Archangel Raphael, asking that they bless you and sanctify the "Seal of Hod". Then make your specific requests.

>> You should have incense burning when you do this, and cleanse yourself before hand so that you have a pure spirit that is open to receive, and not clogged with ego, arrogance, or anything else that will get in the way of your prosperity.

>> The spirits of Mercury are alchemists and miners. You can obtain chemicals, drugs, and a little bit of money from them, and they can give you a small edge in gambling (not a lot though). Money obtained with Mercury's help goes away very quickly; it is good to get bills paid, but not to become rich or build a company.

>> Mercury's energy helps you to study though, and it can make your mind sharp, focused, and also flexible. Mercury is the liquid metal that molds itself into many different shapes, but always stays together on some small level. It can be toxic if you use it too much though, so moderate yourself.

>> This is the prayer to use along with your personal requests:

>> Petasa, Ahor, Havaashar!

>> I, (your name), (son/daughter) of (your parents' names) cite you Spirits of Mercury!

>> Yloi through Elohim Adonai! †

>> Ymah, through Elohim Tetragrammaton! †

>> Rawa, through Elohim Emanuel! *

>> Ahai, through Athanatos! †

>> which Moses mentioned, and there appeared locusts!

>> Fiat, fiat, fiat!

>> (Say this LOUDLY and FORCEFULLY!)

>> You must be STRONG in your spirit in order to call the spirits to obedience!

>> They will not respect your wishes if you call them half-hearted, without preparation, or in a rude manner.

>> They will understand by such actions that you are not a person who respects the Name of God, and that you toss His Holy Name around in a profane and lazy manner. It is difficult to get their cooperation after that.

>> I once summoned the Earth demon of Mercury, who is called the Hacker (Taphtartarat`). He's a crazy little creature that has the power to drive people insane by flooding their minds with too much information. But to the person who can master him, he can be a very powerful servant. He grants gifts of communication and the ability to compel people by the strength of words alone. I would train and practice a long time though before confronting him, if that is your desire. There are many other spirits of Mercury that are less strong and intense when you call them.

>> This seal has four main spirits that attend it, with two other tangential spirits and many servant spirits under these six. Mercury responds to Air, Water, and even Earth, but Fire is especially powerful to secure its blessing. This is a good seal to put on a seven day vigil candle -- you light the candle on one Wednesday, and it finishes burning up on the following day. During that week, you can ask the spirits for favors, errands, information, and other necessities. You can view them through crystal, fire, marble, or even stone if you have good spiritual vision. Keeping the seal in your wallet will draw money into it quickly, but it will disappear just as quickly as it came!

>> Try this out if you like.

Using the Pentagram/Arra for Protection

Posted by: "David S." fireborn7@gmail.com optimystic6

The Pentagram of Cain and Solomon is an ancient symbol of Venus, the Morning Star. In the course of its orbit around the Sun, the planet Venus traces the shape of a pentagram in our sky. This takes one full revolution -- ie, a Venereal year. This planetary cycle was very important to the ancients, especially astronomers and astrologers who worked with the cycle in order to coordinate national events, agriculture, and the economies of their countries.

The Five-Pointed Star displays the Glory of God, which represents the 3rd Wheel/Dimension. This Chakra contains two of the Sephirot` : Hod (Mercury/Nebo/Trismegistus) and Netzach (Aphrodite/Ishtar/Esther), which are linked by the tarot card of "The Tower".

Saint Barbara is found in this archetype of the Lightning-Struck Tower of Babel. Barbara was a pagan convert to Christianity that was kept prisoner by her father in a large, isolated tower. When she died for her faith, lightning struck the tower and killed her father. Lightning is an old symbol of Divine Wrath in both Judaism and Greek Olympism. Lightning is the connection between Heaven and Earth, short-circuiting through a powerful bolt of divine, jovial energy (Jupiter Zdeus). This is why all of those who hold the power of the Morning Star are said to be bearers and throwers of Holy Lightning.

The Sheaf of Wheat that Barbara carries is an old blessing/fertility symbol still used by Zoroastrian Fire Priests.

The Pentagram seal can be used to protect yourself against all forms of black magic and evil.

To use it, first obtain a virgin copy -- it should not have been used by another person unless you are family, and it should be made of clear, fresh ink on clean paper. The characters should be visible and direct, without splotching. You can print the seal if it is an image of high quality, but its even better to make it up yourself and utilize a magic ink for additional properties.

Anna Riva made a small fortune back in the day by selling a line of perfumed dyes as replacements for the blood inks of the grammars. Since we're not even certain if the original recipes had literal blood in them, I see nothing wrong with using her products or the chemical equivalents. It is difficult enough these days to obtain a dove or bat on your own, let alone a dragon! Dragon's blood ink is actually made using a very special tree resin. This resin is a deep crimson in color, and when heated to a high temperature, it bubbles in a bloody fashion:

A Dragon's Blood Tree in Socotra, Yemen.

Daemonorops Draco -- The "Dragon's Blood" resin.

Obtain or compound an ink from this resin, and you will have an ancient vehicle of luck, blessing, fertility, and prosperity to use in your seals. This will double the effect of your magic by integrating multiple virtues.

Create your seal using this ink, and you will end up with the following:

Our pentagram seal integrates the power of 5 different planets: Venus, Mars, the Sun, Jupiter, and Saturn.

It can only be used effectively by someone who has been initiated into at least the 3rd Heaven:

Wikipedia on the "Third Heaven"

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Third\_Heaven>

Most people these days know the Lesser Mysteries, so even many children can keep this symbol in their pocket to stay safe from envy and jealousy.

To utilize the Pentagram to protect yourself, you can use the Invocation of Saint Barbara:

Against the hostile forces of nature and against the possibility of an unprepared death.

[V] Our hope + is in the Name of the Lord YHWH

[R] Who has made Heaven and Earth.

[V] Adonai be with you.

[R] And with your spirit (neshamah).

Prayer:

O God, who did adorn your holy virgin and martyr Barbara with extraordinary fortitude in the confession of Faith, and did console her in the most atrocious torments; grant us through her intercession perseverance in the fulfillment of your law, the grace of being fortified before our end with the holy Sacraments, and the grace of a happy death. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Invocation:

Through your pious intercession before the throne of God, deliver our souls, most holy Barbara, from the power of the evil one throughout our lives, and, especially, at the time of death. Help us to be holy and of pious disposition, that we may thereby avoid the fate of your impious persecutors, and all others who have abandoned their lives to punishment from on High through the forces of God's Creation. Beg deliverance of our bodies, as well, from the adversities of nature, that, free from excessive difficulty in life, we may be able to serve God with increased appreciation and greater clarity of purpose. Ask Him to look favorably upon His people, preserving us from sin above all, drought, lightning, and all of the punishments of our weak animal nature. Do not keep an image of Barbara, but destroy it once you have successfully adapted her spirit into your own. With this counterspell, you can undo the work of witches, necromancers, dark mystics, and vampires.

There is a powerful spirit known by various names who, among many powers and attributes, is a great protector. He is the one who presides over the gateway between the physical and the Spirit Worlds. You do not need to use one of his proper names. You can just use "Gatekeeper" and he will know to whom you refer.

Preferable on a Monday, go to an open doorway of your house or a gate outside, it does not matter where it is. Offer a white candle to him. It does not matter what size it is. If possible, offer three pennies, too. If you cannot leave a candle, leave the pennies somewhere near the doorway. You can hide it where others cannot see it, if that would be a problem with others in your household. No need for formal long prayers. Just say something short and sweet like, "Gatekeeper, this candle is for you." or "Gatekeeper, I give you these three pennies."

Through the law of Correspondences, three is his number.

Next, think of the person who is causing you problems and picture him/her and go through some of the crappy hurtful things that are being done. Next, say a bit forcefully, "GATEKEEPER, TAKE HIM." You can whisper it with force if you are concerned others might hear you. You do not need to worry about what will happen to the evil person or how or when the problem will fix itself. You just want him out of the picture for good. The right thing will happen. Do not worry from this moment on. It is out of your hands. What will happen is correct.

I personally did this one because there was a co-worker who actually punched me in the chest when no one was looking. I asked why he did that, and he said he just felt like it. The boss did not believe me and did nothing about it. I felt unsafe. So, I did this ritual and one week later, the guy got fired for not showing up to work.

David,

I really like this ritual. I am planning on using it this Epiphany! I would like to know what the origins are. Is this something that you wrote? If not what is the origin of this Mass?

Barbuel on the Seven Liers in Wait

Hello sweethearts! Its your uncle Barby here, pioneering the New Age by providing some alternative viewpoints to those God-awful channelings that have been coming through the angelic crowd for the last 30 or 40 years (50 if you count that one chick, and don't even get me started on the god damn Urantia book).

I'm here to provide... another perspective >:)

My name is Barbuel, and my host/bitch is currently learning the art of channeling. Now most of you may be familiar with the principles of channeling that go back for thousands of years, blah blah blah.

They ain't never channeled a demon like me >:D

Now before all of you run away screaming and break out the holy water, you might want to hear me out. A lot of you have been asking about the Black Raven lately, and the magic of the good Doctor Faust (may he rest in a thousand pieces). I'm here to clear up a few things for you good ladies, gentlemen, transsexuals, and the rest of you.

The kind of magic that Dr. Faust practiced and which you find in the so-called "appendix" to the Mosaic magic books is EXTREME.

It is NOT designed for anyone and everyone. If you need a demonic experience in order to finally go to Jesus or to renounce your childhood religious crap for good, go to the Goetia. The Solomonic practices are not as extreme as either Mosaic magic or Faustian magic.

That being said, if you feel called to work with the system, there's a reason for it.

I could go off about destiny and karma and Madame Blavatsky's baboon, but there would really be no point. If you're gonna seriously work with us, you're gonna do it, come Hell or high water.

And believe me friends, Hell has arrived. And its arrived in style >:)

I'm going to provide a bit of historical perspective for your addled minds to grasp, and if you get this down and still feel like this is the system for you, more power to ya.

Once upon a time, ladies and gentlemen, there was a magical kingdom called Magan. This is a place that your archaeologists only have the slightest inklings about. The really funny thing is that, aside from the Simon Necronomicon of Saint Peter Levenda, the closest you are gonna get to finding written information about Magan is in the Dungeons and Dragons Forgotten Realms setting. That's right - in a NERD'S GAME! LOL!

The thing about the "Forgotten Realms" is that the whole setting and crowd has been using the role-playing game as a chance to deal with their historical karma and daddy issues for about 30 odd years. If you look at this game, which is a complete rip-off of Tolkein to begin with, you'll notice that each of the areas of this fantasy world has a suspicious resemblance to a location and period of history from Earth. There's the Moonshae islands which are an Irish mythological setting, the Sea of Fallen Stars where people play out their old pirate dramas in Johnny Depp fashion, and a place called Tethyr that looks suspiciously like revolutionary Russia.

Within this totally unoriginal system, there is a giant swath of desert called "Anauroch" where it was said there used to be a great kingdom of magicians and sorcerers. That was, until they blew the place up, completely destroyed the ecosystem, and the entire place converted into a desert in order to heal ecologically.

The "Arcane Age" that this place depicts is a throwback both to the Kingdom of Magan as well as the principality of Irem, which Lovecraft had a connection to and Donald Tyson has been writing about of late.

Without getting into Irem and their particular neuroses, what happened in Magan was largely the result of the fucked-up operations of 7 of the most powerful sorcerers in the world - in fact, in your history as a whole. These 7 sorcerers were Anunaki, which means that, to begin with, they were not completely human in the sense you understand the term. They were of mixed blood. Now, granted, the Watchers - another group of Anunaki from the same species - later went on to sleep with human women and found the basis of Indo-European civilization as we know it, but that was the beginning of the Bronze age and this happened much, MUCH earlier in history. That is why these 7 got such a bad rap.

These 7 sorcerers - 7 "fallen" Anunaki - were masters of Black Magic. They were not entirely bad people though. When we talk about Black Magic, we are talking about the magic of the Earth plane, as opposed to Heavenly or White Magic. It is not evil in itself unless you believe the bullshit perpetrated by some of the more retarded angels and their followers. Black magic is the Mastery of Earth. It is the Mastery of the Forces of Darkness (David likes to put things in capitals because it draws people's attention. I think its cute but you should probably make fun of him from time to time so his ego doesn't get too big).

The 7 sorcerers - the 7 Anunaki of Magan - were practicing and studying a very specific kind of power and magic that most of you today are completely unaware of, unless you happen to be very serious practitioner of Hindu Tantra or Daoist Alchemy. The magic they were studying was the Magic of the Dragon. So the first chapter of the Nec's "Magan text" is the backdrop to this story. The 7 were trying to restore the power of Tiamat, the fallen Queen of the Ancients. They themselves belonged to a certain sect that was called "The Justified Ancients of Mummu Tiamat". Your historians have actually discovered a little bit of information about this group, and Robert Anton Wilson and Shea wrote about it in their "Illuminatus!" trilogy.

The reason that the 7 were so into Tiamat worship was a combination of a hunger for power and a political opposition to the religion of Anu and his priesthood. The Simon Necronomicon is a channeled document in itself - it says as much if you actually bother to read it instead of just pretending its drivel so you don't have to be scared. These 7 had seen a great deal of abuse of power by the Anunaki as a whole and were watching them pretty much destroy the human race and rape the Earth for anything and everything they wanted to get out of it. They believed they were superior to the "apes" (Lulu) and thus had the right to do whatever the Hell they wanted. And when I say Hell, that is literally what they put most people through in their quest for gold in spirit and in truth.

We 7 were opposed to them from the start, but we were not allowed into Sumer proper because of the nature of our views, perspectives, and political rhetoric. So we set up shop in Magan - "where the boats stop". Magan actually has an esoteric meaning behind it though. Ag is a word for Fire, and M' is an amplifier in semitic and other languages. An, like the god Anu, means "of Heaven". So ONE way you could read Magan is "Place of the Fire of Heaven".

Sounds cool, eh? It was! We had a great thing going on.

And then we decided to go down a path from which there was no turning back.

I want to hook you so I'm not gonna spoil the story by revealing everything right away. But suffice it to say that those 7 sorcerers of Magan are one and the same as the 7 Princes of Faust that you see here in your Black Raven today.

Most New Age crap talks about Ascension. We actually decided to go the OPPOSITE direction.

We DESCENDED in our consciousness in order to contact and empower the Dragon Current in the world.

When you call one of us, and you're serious about doing the work, you become one of our disciples - a disciple of Black Magic. We are happy and willing to teach you anything and everything about the tools of our trade, its history, its methods, and its techniques. We are surprisingly nice guys once you get to know us, but make no mistake people: we are Demons. Archdemons. The Baddest of the Bad. And this magic you are so innocently hold in your hands and examine curiously is some of the most dangerous magic in the world. The Nec says in one line that civilizations were destroyed because of the knowledge contained in the Book of Black Earth, and I want to stress that it is not dicing words in the slightest. Its absolutely serious. There is NO turning back once you decide to go down this path, so think long and careful about whether you really want to pursue this magic or not! It is not for wimps or sissies! It is not for anyone who can't stomach difficult things or frightful energies. We raise Hell, and we're damn proud of it.

That being said, let me tell you a little bit about each of us, so that you can take a look and decide if one of us is right for you. Please don't call us as an entire group unless you want to contribute to the ruin of your particular slice of the globe. Its too much for you and anyone within a 100 mile radius to handle. You will only end up working with one or two of us for the most part anyway. The rest of us will be tertiary to you.

Here's the Breakdown of the 7 of us:

Let's start with the obviously coolest choice - ME! I, Barbuel, am the Jovial prince of Black Magic. That's why I have such a deliciously wicked sense of humor. I appear in the form of a pig because I represent everything that is wrong with the self-righteous rule of Mardukite governments (that would be all of them at this point). I draw my power from the sphere of Jupiter, and I am a master at manipulating the legal and educational system to get whatever the fuck I want. If you want to work with me, be prepared for a lot of studying, eye-opening disappointment, and disillusionment. I have seen shit that'll turn you white.

Our Lady Antiquel is the old serpent that dwells within the heart and penis of every repressed, self-hating male on the planet. She's also great with the ladies too. Antiquel (or Aniquel in the butchered versions) has a good knowledge of the law like me, but her specialty is the Venereal realms. Antiquel can flood your love life with so much sex and wanton pleasure that you may never come back from it. Use protection when fucking with her.

Ariel is the demon of Neil Gaiman, and was also the demon of Prospero if any of you actually bothered to read your Shakespeare. "The Tempest" is actually based on a real story, as are most of Shakespeare's works. It's a beautiful exploration of the kind of magic we deal with and Ariel shines like a fucking star during the play. The little bitch did such a good job that one of the moons of Uranus has been named in his honor, and that chick Miranda was similarly celebrated. All the moons of Uranus are named after Shakespearean characters, but the other ones are from "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and are more about the Fey or Fairies, who are Ariel's allies.

Aziel, the Bull-headed moron, is the patron of all those military nuts out there, so maybe you Wiccans in the military would appreciate working with him. He is good for anyone who grew up in a War Zone - figuratively or literally. He's also great for bodybuilders and gym bunnies, despite what David said a while back ago to the contrary. He is the martial one of our bunch. Aziel is a hothead though, so be prepared to experience rage and fury on an entirely new level when you summon him. Moloch got a taste of this awhile ago, and I find that fairly amusing for a guy who is regarded as such an expert sorcerer. Aziel is extremely dangerous and can inspire war and terror on an unprecedented scale.

Moving on, we have Mephistopheles - the "Lover of Filth", who was Doctor Faust's personal demon. Mephisto is one sick fuck. He is the patron of psychopaths, serial killers, and people who fry ants with magnifying glasses because it's so fun to watch them burn. He is absolutely disgusting in every sense of the word. That being said, the guy has great style and great talent.

Goethe's "Faust" is an indispensable guide if you want to work with this one. He gets more press and attention than any of us I think. Mephisto is the mercurial one of our bunch.

The Solar demon is Marbuel, or "Marby" as he is known affectionately. Marby also makes an appearance in the Goetia as "Marbas", though he is far more tame and well behaved if you call him in that aspect than if you call him using his Faustian name and rites. Marbuel is the patron of anyone who has had their confidence and self-worth completely shattered. He is a demon of the Jews in particular, because Judah is the Lion of Israel. If you feel that you are a worthless piece of shit that is just taking up space on the planet and not converting waste fast enough to even be a good member of the food chain, Marbuel is the guy for you.

That leaves Aziabel, whose name is semitic for "Wacky Waving Inflatable Arm Flailing Tube Man". He is the lunatic of our bunch. If any of you ever watched Drusilla on Buffy, she is emblematic of the type that work with Aziab. He is the lunar demon who carries within his consciousness the Pearl of Great Price. That's why there's pearls all over his seals. That and he's just gay to begin with, as are most men who are especially attracted to the lunar sphere. Aziabel was personally responsible for much of the destruction of Atlantis, and he has a fascinating knowledge of history for any and all of you who might want to call him up.

So, my little children of the dark arts, go do your homework, and if you've thought about it long and hard and are ready to go down the dark path, we'll be happy to forever altar your destiny >:D

One last note - the Order of Al Gol, which is a fairly decent if typical order of Faustian magicians - has different planetary attributions than the ones you see here. That's ok, because we are not strictly limited to any one planet in our operations. It's true that I can be very saturnine at times, and that Mephisto can be a bit of a lunatic. But the attributions I'm giving you here are my personal take on the situation. If you went to one of the others first, they might give you a different set of attributions. Whatever set you want to use is fine, because we are complex and multifaceted entities that are not liable to be boxed in any time soon (except by the Cube of Space, the ORIGINAL Black Box). So if you feel I'm wrong, screw you. Nah, just kidding. Go with your gut and what feels right to you. If you're not honest with yourself now you're going to have a Hell of a time later >:P

Otherwise...

One alleged way of learning the grimoire (or any other skill) is to go to a spot where there is a leyline and conjure up the genius locus (spirit of the place) of that spot to teach you. This is found in certain magical traditions under different forms.

For example, in hoodoo you might take a copy of the grimoire with you to a place of power, for example a crossroads or in the woods beside a specially chosen tree/shrub, and over the course of 'nine days' (eg. nine Sundays) you do a rite to learn your skill. At the end of this time a supernatural force is said to appear and teach you what you want to learn.

In one version of the rite you recite your desire at the darkest hour of the night (4:00am) and then practice acting out your desire until the sun comes up. According to this tradition you will see various black animals approach you but you should ignore them. Then on the ninth day, you'll be approached by a black youth who is said to appear to teach you what you want to know.

In another version, you go to a certain spot as described above and recite Psalm 136 at 9:00am 'for nine days'. According to this tradition you'll have an experience like Elijah had in 1 Kings 19:11 to 13, with disturbed weather conditions, then you make your request and you are allegedly taught your desired skill.

I can't vouch for this rite because i haven't done it. Talk to someone with experience in the matter. Ask a hoodoo practitioner about 'the Crossroads.'

You can find out more about it here:

<http://www.luckymojo.com/crossroads.html>

If your true desire is to learn to use the 6th and 7th books of Moses and you are willing to do a genius locus rite down at the crossroads, you might want to memorize and recite one of the following verses as your request: Psalm 119:12, Psalm 119:18, or Psalm 119:135. If your goal is to become rich, recite one of the following verses: Genesis 26:13, Genesis 31:16, Deuteronomy 8:18, the last sentence of Joshua 22:7 with all of verse 8, 1 Samuel 2:8, 1 Chronicles 29:12 and 13, Psalm 112:3, Proverbs 3:9 and 10, Proverbs 8:17 and 18, Proverbs 8:20 and 21, Proverbs 10:22, Proverbs 22:4, Ecclesiastes 5:19 and 20, Isaiah 60:4 and 5, Isaiah 61:6 and 7, or Ezekiel 28:4. Any of those verses would be good for your request.

Judging by what you originally wrote of yourself, the verse you say you want would be Proverbs 28:8, which is to take the wealth of the greedy so you can give to the poor, but you have to actually give it to the poor or it will be taken from you also. Meaning you might not get even a cent for yourself but you might have to inherit the poverty.

> Next you should have your accurate birth chart studied (positions of the planets at your birth) to determine if you were born to be rich/wealthy or successful or anything else. In my view this gives a good idea at the start of what you should be focussing on.<

The 2nd half of the Ars Paulina talks about the birthchart casting and how to find the name of your HGA who can help you overcome adverse aspects in the chart which cause 'generational curses'.

> Now some people say everything in this physical world can be changed and altered and many do not believe in predestined cause and effect. This is up to you but a study of the energies at your birth will help you decide how easy or hard this task will be.<
